The tardy kiosk has been a wonderful tool for our high school. It saves me time, instead of signing the students in who are late everyday, the kids know to simply go to the kiosk to sign in and get a pass which gives me time to answer phones and take messages. It makes it much easier to track the students and I can tell the exact time the kids sign in on skyward. This option on skyward has to be one of the best yet, and I hope we can add more options with the kiosk in the near future.

We timed it ~ it takes exactly HALF the time to scan and print (10 seconds) than it did to fill out the clipboard (20+ seconds) AND the data is immediately in Skyward.

I wish I could have captured some of the "candid moments" of kids coming to the attendance window for the first time today.

- "Uh... what is this" "Really? Cool!" "That's it? I don't need anything else?"
- (Do you remember your student ID number?) "Oh, is it the same one I had since 3rd grade? Sure..."
- "Look at this pass – it even knows my next class!"
- (Student assistant to his buddy) – "Dude, get out your ID card and scan it. It's 2015!"
- Counselor came down after we scanned our test student ~ "did Makayla really check in this morning? She's been gone for several days, and she's really back?"

Couldn't have done it without your help – THANK YOU!!!
